

Concerns and Request for Fair Treatment and Remote Work Continuation

Dear Chiba san,

I hope this message finds you well. I am writing to address some pressing concerns and share my perspective on my work arrangement at Southern Stars Services, Ltd. Over the past three years, I have been a dedicated remote worker, consistently delivering efficient and high-quality work for the company.

1. Compensation Discrepancy and Performance:

I have noticed a significant disparity in compensation between myself and my co-worker, Maria. Despite my exceptional performance and valuable contributions, including achieving sales figures that are 10 times higher than Maria's, my paycheck remains lower than hers. Additionally, I handle a diverse range of responsibilities, such as administrative tasks, accounting duties, crafting sales emails, booking customer requests, and creating sales-related PDFs. I believe that my contributions warrant equitable compensation.

2. Inequality in Work Hours and Treatment:

It has come to my attention that Maria consistently starts at 9 am and concludes her daily tasks in 30 minutes to 1 hour. Moreover, she frequently engages in personal activities during work hours, such as grocery shopping, hair and nail salon visits, and counting her commute time. This inequality in work hours and treatment raises concerns about fair treatment and equal expectations for all employees.

3. The explanation for Pay Discrepancy:

I kindly request a transparent explanation as to why my compensation was lower than that of Shiori san when I was hired to cover her position and took on additional responsibilities. Despite my efforts in handling various tasks effectively, my hourly salary remained lower than Shiori san's.

4. Unreasonable Phone Call Expectations and Harassment:

I value effective communication and have consistently ensured prompt responsiveness to phone calls, messages, and emails. However, I have noticed that when I miss Chiba san's phone calls, even though I return the calls promptly within two minutes, there is a consistent inquiry about my activities. This consistent harassment regarding phone call response times creates unnecessary stress and pressure.

5. Overtime and Work-Life Balance:

I have worked diligently during weekends and holidays to ensure that my tasks are completed efficiently and that the company's success is prioritized. However, this extended workload has prevented me from taking paid time off for the past three years, negatively impacting my work-life balance.

6. Job Discrimination Concerns:

As a Japanese employee, I have observed discrepancies in treatment and expectations between myself and Maria, who is an American co-worker. This raises concerns about potential job discrimination based on nationality, which is not conducive to a positive and inclusive work environment.

Remote Work Continuation:

As a remote worker, I have demonstrated my ability to maintain high productivity and deliver results effectively. I kindly request the continued opportunity to work remotely, as it has proven successful for both myself and the company.

I believe open communication is essential for resolving these concerns effectively. I kindly request a meeting to discuss these matters further. It is my sincere hope that we can find solutions that promote fairness, equal treatment, and an inclusive work environment for all employees.

Thank you for your attention to these concerns. I look forward to discussing these issues in person and finding resolutions that address these matters amicably.

Sincerely,

Ayako Y Pham
